same time, you're not limited to the basic membership package. Unlimited Internet service is offered to anyone who also wants to use LoadData.com™ as his or her Internet provider. For only $9.95 per month, you get unlimited Internet access.

This premium membership level offers these features: Dialup numbers for almost every major city in the United States, five email addresses and 10MB of storage space. There's also the stuff you typically get with any Internet provider – 24-hour technical support, your personal home page and access to multiple search engines and links to other websites. Finally, a portion of each monthly dial-up subscription goes to support shooting sports and habitat restoration programs.

After spending an hour or so examining loaddata.com, I'm very favorably impressed with what this site offers.

Even if you don't opt for the combination program, loaddata.com stands alone as a unique, extremely valuable resource for handloaders. The publisher modestly calls it "The Ultimate Online Reloading Manual," and I don't think that's an exaggeration. If there's a handload you need – no matter how obscure – this site promises to provide the information. And through a special arrangement, you also get access to a treasure trove of entertaining, informative articles from savvy Handloader and Rifle contributors (including me). I call that a pretty good deal for under $30. To sign up, visit loaddata.com online and follow the simple instructions.
